

Hello everybody! We've been waiting for this year to end and take all the adverse events that took place in 2020 with it. Let's be optimistic and concentrate on the fact that 2021 is almost here and the Winter Holidays, Christmas, and New Year celebrations are coming.

We recently announced that we'd be having giveaways and making pleasant surprises for you in the following months. The time has come!

Our contest will take place on Twitter from December 7 till December 20 and will include two categories. Two lucky followers will win $100 each deposited to their Currency.com Accounts.

Let's talk about the rules of the contest. There will be two nominations, i.e., two hashtags.

The first nomination is #memetrading. Everything's simple - the one with the funniest meme wins! Currency.com team will be choosing from the Twitter posts you tag us in.

The second nomination is #whycurrency. Write a post telling why you chose Currency.com, what our strengths are, and where we differ from the other platforms. The most inspiring one wins!

To participate in the contest, you have to:

- Follow Currecy.com on Twitter
- Retweet an original (embed) tweet with the rules
- Fulfill the task from any nomination
- Tag us by adding @CurrencyCom and use hashtags #memetrading #currencycom in a tweet for the first nomination and #whycurrency #currencycom for the second.

Contestants can take part in both categories as many times as they want, but they have to make different posts each time.

In two weeks, our jury board will review the results and reward the winners. We will announce the winners on December 23.

Good luck to y'all, and may the trading force be with you!